A FATAL SHOOTING

OUT AT POINT MILLS WEDNESDAY Well Known Young Man Shoots a B. & O. Track Hand in the Abdomen-Different Accounts of the Affair - The Man's Woundact a Dangerons Character.

A bad shooting affray took place Wednesday evening at a late hour at Roney's Point, on the Hempfield road, ten miles east of this city, which may result in the death of the victim, W. A. Bryant, a track hand in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio Company. L. S. Hervey, the son of Col. Thomas Y. Hervey, fired the shot which it is feared will prove fatal. Young Hervey and his father-inlaw, John Blaney, are partners in busi-ness at Roney's Point, and Bryant had run up a pretty big bill and was about to move over into Pennsylvania without paying it. The firm heard of his intended emoval, and Mr. Blaney swore out an atachment for his household goods before a ustice of the peace, instructing the con-table not to serve it until Bryant was ust about to leave the State. just about to leave the State.

This was done, and Bryant was prevented from departing. Wednesday night be met Blaney in front of the latter's house, and reproached him for his course, finally becoming abusive in his language and at the same time grasping Blaney by the throat, or by the collar, he himself claims, and emphasizing his remarks by shaking him.

While he had hold of Blaney, Hervey While he had solid of Hanny, Hervey came up, and seeing the situation, rushed into the house and gothis revolver Bryant released Blaney, but was still talking to him augrily when Hervey respeared. Blaney had meantime armed himself with an ax handle, and when Hervey came out of the house, Blaney hit Bryant over the least wit the atick enting a bad gash. of the house, Blaney hit Bryant over the head with the stick, entting a bad gash. Simultaneously Hervey fired his revolver, the ball piercing Bryant's abdomen, and it is supposed tearing the villa organs to such an extent that the man will die. The wounded man walked to Dr. Cracraft's house, and the Doctor dressed his wound and took him in his buggy to kim Grove, where Squire Rassar and reshest at all times.

A PLEASING feature of the entertainment given at the Disciples Church, last evening, was the splendid manner in which in $500 bail, which he furnished.

Bryant was taken to the County Infirmary. He was still living the systems.

Shocking Attempt at Spicide.

Mra. Helfenbine, a widow living at Elin Grove, whose husband was a well known shoemaker, and died recently, yesterday made a determined and frightful attempt to take her own life. Since the death of her husband her mind has been somewhat affected, and recently her aberration has increased. Yesterday she took a hatchet and struck herself several blows on the head, with the evident intention of braining herself and causing death. Three long, deep gashes were cut in her scalp, when the pain and loss of blood so weak-ened her that she fell, and friends reached her in time to have her horrible wounds dressed and save her life.

The Committee on Baildings and Grounds made a recommendation that it be authorized to buy from Mrs. Jesse Wheat as a location for a new building in the Eighth ward four lots on Eoff and Fourty-fourth streets, at a price not to exceed $2,500. Mr. J. A. Miller opposed this on the ground of expense and of the unhealthly locality of the lots. He fayored an addition to the present school building. Dr. McCoy said there was urgent necessity for an additional building, and that the ground was the highest in the ward that could be secured, and was very cheap. He thought best to build the schools is part, from sanitary considerations, and because in time a new sub-district will have to be made and a new school located. DR. W. H. Blaney and Hervey tell a little different version of the stair from the above, but their stories are substantially the same as Bryaut's in the important particulars.

The Barum Darvah Affair.

Ex-Policeman Joe Barum appeared in police court yesterday morning, as his friends predicted he would, to answer to the charge of assaulting Clerk Darrah, of that court, in the Reguler office the night before. He confessed to the charge, but explained that he had been exasperated by persecution and insults on Darrah's part. He accused Darrah of trying to break him up, and of inspiring an article in the Register reflecting on him. This Darrah denied. Judge Jeffers gave Barum a kindly lecture and fined him $50 and costs, a penalty the moderation of which, was an agrecable suprise to Barum. Barum later plead guilty in the Circuit Court to the indictment for seeling all quor on Sunday, and was flued $20 and costs.

His hearing in that court on the indictment for keeping a house of prostition was set for the 28th inst. The accused has retained Caldwell & Caldwell as his attorneys.
